Excerpt: . . . and we agreed that the telephone companies would be taken on the same basis. We agreed that no precedent, no matter by whom established, should act as a barrier to the solving of the question along economic lines. We agreed, as a matter of record, to employ an attorney who would work out the so-called precedents in order that they might be discussed, so as to get an understanding of where these questions of contact had arisen in the past. were not possible to set up something which would eliminate, perhaps, 90 per cent of the troubles which have existed in the past, leaving the other 10 per cent to special consideration. We had a general discussion of the proposition without regard to the 10 per cent. It was further suggested that joint Committees be formed in each State, based somewhat on the idea of our...
