Excerpt: .Boyden Son, paid $1300 for the note, acquired it before maturity and had no notice of any altera-8. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, Sec. 125. M. Mwright T. Boyden, 191 Illinois Reports, 138. tion. The defense was based on two theories: (1) That the note as originally delivered contained the figures $100 in the margin, and the words one hundred dollars in the body of the note, and that the figures $100 were altered to read $1300, and the word one before hundred was erased, and the word thirteen inserted in its stead; or (2) That the word one was not in the body of the note, but that there was a blank space in which the word thirteen had been inserted. The court in the course of its opinion said: First, If the note was altered by (the first method) then the alteration amounted to a forgery and appellant is not liable on the note, even though appellees were bona fide purchasers thereof for value without notice or knowledge of the change. If the amount named in the note is raised by erasing what is written, such alteration is a material one, and the note is thereby vitiated so as to become void. Where a note is complete at the time when it is signed by the maker, its subsequent alteration by raising the amount thereof through obliteration of the same by the use of any chemical process, or other ingenious device, without the...
