B-285368 indicated that such a methodology was an inappropriate choice for a system that had to handle the large processing volumes on a real-time basis as was necessary for IQMS. IQMScapacity also proved to be less capable of being adjusted through software adjustments. As previously noted, NASD was able to vastly increase the processing capacity of Legacy through software tuning. In its report on NASDs capacity planning process, the external consultant noted that NASDs capacity requirement forecasts assume that it will continually be as successful at increasing its systems capacities through tuning as it has been in the past. NASD officials told us that they similarly expected to be able to increase the processing capacity of IQMS through tuning once it was operational. After testing, NASD estimated that IQMScapacity could likely be improved by as much as 30 percent. However, the initial attempts to tune the program...
